

Exercises GParted

1. Why is the file system not showed in the second partition?
2. If you had to create a new partition to store 2 GB data, where would you put the partition in? Which file system should you use? Justify your answer.

1.- Because it's not a windows file system but it's compatible file system with Linux.

2.- On the partition empty

On a fat32 file system because it supports Windows.